Dear Lani:

Hector Guerrero alerted me to the ABC News interview about you and I have been meaning to write ever since. Not only is it a fitting tribute to you and your family, it is a terrific success story. Lanmark Technology is already doing very well and is on an impressive trajectory. Your mother's admonition to "dream bigger than what's in front of you" and her statement that "if you can dream it you can achieve it" both resonated with me.

We would love to have you come to campus sometime to speak to our students. Our chapter of the Graduate Women in Business would be pleased to host you on your visit. We are proud to call you one of our own and I personally hope to catch up with you either during a future trip to Northern Virginia or here in Williamsburg.

Congratulations in the meantime on this well deserved recognition of your success.

Sincerely,
